

CLIENT SUCCESS STORY

GROCERY CHAIN FILLS CRUCIAL IT GAPS

Founded in 1939 in St. Louis, this large supermarket chain currently operates 112 stores in five states throughout the Midwest.

THE CHALLENGE

This organization needed superior software support to empower them in their growth as well as a team to manage the software solutions. First, having enlisted multiple staffing teams, they received candidates of varied quality of talent and culture fit. Working for such a prestigious client as this, many firms used too broad of a search in effort to fill the roles. The client received far too many bad candidates than the procurement team could handle—with no positive results.

“Finding good staff is simply difficult in today’s market. There are so many candidates but few that truly stand out and line up with what they wrote down on their resume. We’re grateful to partner with Technology Partners on this as their commitment to providing quality talent never disappoints.”

THE PLAN

The hiring team would provide only the most-qualified applicants and reserve interviews for the best of the best. Then, they could focus their time on evaluating chemistry of the talent.

THE RESULTS

Technology Partners pulled together a select list of candidates using our proprietary matching technology. Working through the client’s open positions, one role at a time, we submitted rockstar candidates who were great fits on all parameters. Finally having the talent they needed, the client could increase the digital experience for customers across the region.
